First Race in 16 Years For City School Board

For the first time in sixteen years voters in the Fulton Independent School District face a contest in the selection of three members of the school board whose terms of office expire in January. Incumbents Flynn Powell, Gene Hatfield and Win Whitnel will have Charles Pawlukiewicz, Glenn Veneklasen and Wick Smith as opponents, the County Court Clerk's office reported Tuesday. The five member board is also composed of Dr. Ward Bushart and Felix Gossom, whose terms do not expire with the end of this year.

All six candidates have formally filed their petitions to see the office. Deadline for filing is September 21.

The last time a school board contest developed was in 1946 when R. H. (Bob) White and Joe Hall ran for one of the offices. Mr. Hall was the winner.

Fulton City's school system recently hailed by the State Department of Education as above the average in the scholastic attainments of its graduates, is integrated in the four high school grades. Superintendent W. L. Holland, his faculty and the school board was commended highly for the orderly and efficient manner

Golfing Is Here To Stay!

That's for sure. The ladies at the Fulton Country Club have elected officers for next year and here Mrs. Guy Hale of Hickman, newly elected golf chairman, gives a big smile to winners of this year's competition. Mrs. George Winters, (left) was runner-up in the championship flight and Mrs. Tom Mahan, (right) was winner in the first flight. Mrs. Hale is in the center. Mrs. Jasper Vowell, championship flight winner and Mrs. Dan Taylor, runner-up in the first flight were not present when the pictures were made.

See you on the nineteenth hole next year Mrs. George Carpenter of Paris tells Mrs. James Green (left) and Mrs. Cecil Wade (right) of Fulton. Mrs. Green is Fulton's new ladies day treasurer and Mrs. Wade is the assistant ladies day chairman. Mrs. Hendon Wright was elected ladies day chairman but was not present when the picture was taken. Mrs. Carpenter is chairman of the eight-club inter-city golf association.

As I See It... Through the Glass Bi-focally... And With Braille Too!

There comes a time in everybody's life when they wish they were dead and this week is "my week." The secret is out now! All of you have heard me complain bitterly about all the dogs at our house, but really it has been a defense mechanism to keep from having you know the truth. I aided and abetted that population explosion out there for one reason. I have been trying to have our dog "Flop" produce a dog smart enough to be a seeing eye dog for me, BECAUSE IN SPITE OF PROFESSIONAL ADVICE I WAS NOT GOING TO GET BI-FOCAL GLASSES.

But Flop failed. As a matter of real truth, Nell Gibson will tell you that she came out to the house Tuesday to get one of our dogs, and for the first time since we've had the Heinz-Variety Kennel they had all disappeared. Flop must have sensed that it was the day for me to get my new bi-focals and she just couldn't stand to see her old mid-wife sobbing.

My anathema towards bi-focals is not to cast aspersions on the optical profession. It stemmed from a deep-rooted emotion that the double-vision spectacles means I was getting to the point where all sorts of artificial methods are needed to keep an old hag "moving ahead." I have the same antipathy towards a dentist who gently says: "Jo you MUST get that bridge in the lower jaw." He goes on to say that "at your-age it is doubly important that your food is digested in small bits to avoid indigestion, recurrent ulcers and mineral deposits in your system."

Before I get that bridge in my mouth I'm going to go around having the children buy pabulum secretly so that my diet will be soft and bland. If I have to take more time each night taking care of that bridge, I never would get to bed. The massage for the circles under my eyes, the special wrinkle cream, the lotion to remove the drying skin, the bobby-pin hassle and the push-ups for other sagging parts of the body takes hours now. Think of what it would do to my personality to look after the bridge. First place I could never find it, because I have trouble keeping my tooth brush in the right place.

But back to the bi-focals. For the short time I have had them my neck and back are as sore as a boil. 'Tis said you don't move your eyes to get the proper focus, you move your head. Bob Hyland came in the office shortly after I put them on and I know he thinks I have developed epilepsy. I looked at him sideways, with my head tilted back, and my chin on my chest and still I saw him cut in half, bending down and laying on the floor. To tell the truth, I'm not so sure it was Bob Hyland. I'll have to ask him if he was in the office Tuesday.

I think I succumbed to the bi-focals when I started putting the type in the forms and I had to ask Willis and T. C. to read the guide-line to me. It's bad enough that we have to read the type upside down and backwards. But when it got to the point that I was trying to distinguish it with the Braille system I decided that was the living end. On Tuesday when I made up the pages with my new glasses I waited until everybody went to lunch.

I reached up to get a slug and looked through the bi-focal department and when I put it in the form and looked at it through the top-part of the spectacles I found that it was a piece of column rule. Here at this type-writer I just discovered that today for the first time there are 352 keys on the key-board. When I want to read what I have already written I close one eye, turn my head around like a chicken and look down at the paper from about three inches. Then I call Karen and ask her to read it to me.

Louis Weeks advised me to be careful when I walk with the new glasses on. He said you feel like you're walking into a hole and to be careful how you step. Why if I walked with these glasses

Medical Society Postpones Plan For Sabin Vaccine

The Sabin Polio vaccine campaign in Fulton and Fulton County has been postponed until the U. S. Public Health Service determines that all vaccines are safe.

Though the health service has questioned the safety of only one of the three types of oral anti-polio vaccine, the Fulton County Medical Society has decided to wait until it has been certified safe before giving any of the three on a mass basis.

This is contrary to the advice of state health authorities who have recommended that communities go ahead with plans for mass immunization with Types I and II. These types have been declared safe by the U. S. Public Health Service. Only Type III is being questioned.

"We don't agree that we should go ahead and give Type I and II," said Dr. Bob Peterson, chairman of the committee which planned to carry out the Sabin campaign.

The medical society's decision came following the federal health agency's announcement Saturday that it was recommending a temporary halt in the use of Type III vaccine for adults.

Plans for the mass immunization campaign in Fulton and Fulton County were well advanced when the question was raised about the safety of Type III

Records Fail To Show Fulton's Fee Agreement

City officials of Fulton and South Fulton are studying transcripts of official meetings of their respective municipalities to determine Fulton's liability to pay a portion of the engineering fee paid by South Fulton to Nichols Engineering Company in connection with a joint sewage disposal system.

Meanwhile a report is being circulated that the City of South Fulton allegedly agreed to accept $5000 from Fulton as a compromise payment as part of the $16,800 paid Nichols Engineering Firm of Union City.

Mayor Gilbert DeMyer reported Wednesday that he has received indicate that any official action no such compromise offer and the was taken on the alleged compromise payment. South Fulton City records of South Fulton do not Clerk Emily Dame says that she recalls a discussion of the matter among the present South Fulton Council, but no official action was noted on the records of that city.

A former Fulton City Councilman told the News Wednesday that both communities are victims of hap-hazard record keeping. Said he: "The many informal discussions and agreements entered into by former city officials were never recorded. If a court battle ensues most of the testimony would come from oral agreements made by former city officials which would pit families against families and friends against friends. It must be settled like gentlemen," he added.

Mayor Gilbert DeMyer has proposed a $2000.00 settlement and Commissioner Bill Rice has proposed a $4000.00 settlement. Both proposals were turned down by

Clothes Bank Soon To Conduct Drive; Local Persons Are Asked To Donate

On a date soon to be announced, the Clothing Bank here in Fulton will hold a drive in the schools in Fulton and Hickman Counties to replenish its dwindling stock.

The heads of the organization, C. H. McDaniel and Glenn Walker, are today announcing the drive in the hope that the local people will answer the call for clothes, especially children's clothes, as they have done in the past.

The bank is located here for the purpose of distributing clothing to needy families in the twin-cities area. It has served as a valuable asset to the people of this area, providing clothes for many children who would not otherwise be able to attend school.

No clothing is issued without a letter of authorization from a school principal or a minister. This ruling is for the purpose of preventing unauthorized persons from receiving the clothing. Schools in Fulton, Hickman, Cayce, Clinton, and the rural area which surrounds them, are all participating in the clothing drive. When the drive is begun, the clothing should be brought to

Wilson Wyatt's Integrity Needs No Defense; A. D. A. Charge Is Grave Insult To Kentuckians

There are many reasons why Wilson W. Wyatt should be elected the United States Senator from Kentucky in November. Time and space do not permit us to enumerate his many outstanding qualifications for the extremely responsible and honorable position. His performance as a public servant is on the record for all to see and admire. It is a record that spans a lifetime of service to his community, his State and his Nation.

But for all his prestigious record, we think he ought to be elected Senator to obliterate for all time the assassination of his character because of his one-time, short-lived association with the Americans for Democratic Action. Actually the organization was formed to FIGHT Communism not to spread it. And Wilson Wyatt was its first president. The group's early motives have been so distorted by politicians that the real purpose of the movement has been lost in the hassle to get votes any old way.

Each time Mr. Wyatt submits his candidacy for public office his opponents resurrect the A. D. A. charge in a manner to picture Mr. Wyatt as a hooded, cloak and dagger spy who seeks public office so he can use the influence of that office to tear down the Washington monument and erect one to Lenin, Marx and Stalin.

Luckily, hundreds of thousands of Kentuckians have gone to the polls many times and reiterated their confidence in Mr. Wyatt by giving him record-breaking majorities in his bids for public office. Unless we are badly misled, he'll do it again in November. It can't be a source of the greatest indignation for this nationally respected Kentuckian to defend himself against a charge that is without foundation or truth.

During the gubernatorial campaign of 1959 our chagrin knew no bounds, when as a State campaign worker, it became necessary for us to combat the scurrilous literature distributed in some areas impugning Mr. Wyatt's loyalty to his country. The late President Roosevelt sent Mr. Wyatt on extremely sensitive and confidential missions to foreign countries during World War II. President Roosevelt, President Truman, United States Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, President John Kennedy and a host of other great Americans know Mr. Wyatt, for what thousands of Kentuckians know him; a loyal, capable, outstanding man of impeccable integrity and that's that.

As lieutenant-governor Mr. Wyatt has shaken more hands, made more speeches, visited more areas of Kentucky than any public official we have known in recent years. The response to his program of progress and development for Kentucky has been almost unanimous. He is an indefatigable worker, as his close associates will readily testify. Both he and Mrs. Wyatt devote tremendous effort to the smallest detail that would interest and help their friends. A man of lesser character would overlook them.

Again we are surprised that the Republicans have latched on to such a flimsy campaign issue. But if they are spending so much time on investigating Mr. Wyatt's issuance of Kentucky Colonels commissions, they might even make a big issue of Mr. Wyatt's use of green ink to sign his name. The color he should use is blue, because there's blue in the American flag, and every red-blooded American ought to know that green is the color associated with Ireland, so that makes Mr. Wyatt more loyal to Ireland than America.

The A. D. A. bit reminds us of what a tailor in Northern Kentucky told us when we were campaigning in those parts three years ago. When we asked about the A. D. A. charge said he:

"Ada, Ida, Sophie, who cares what girl Mr. Wyatt used to go with. All I know is he's got a good wife, three fine children and he's a smart man and I'm gonna vote for him."

That's just about what the average citizen thinks or cares about the Americans for Democratic Action. The people who read more and study more know that Mr. Wyatt had no connection with whatever happened to the organization after he left it.

So that leaves Mr. Wyatt's opponents who might continue to make something of A. D. A. They weren't going to vote for him anyway. So let 'em have fun and let's send Mr. Wyatt to the Senate with the same kind of majority he's accustomed to getting in state-wide races... and that's B-I-I-I-G-G.

From all indications, saboteurs evidently planned a wreck of the traffic on the Illinois Central railroad between Fulton and Memphis. The Panama Limited narrowly escaped a wreck one and one half miles north of Curve, Tennessee. Upon examination, it was found that the spikes had been removed from several rails, along with angle bars. It is believed that the saboteurs were trying to wreck trains carrying war material.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gregory were host and hostess to a delightful affair at their home on Walnut Street complimenting Tobe Perce who recently left for Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana to be inducted into the U. S. Army.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Browder were host and hostess to an outdoor chicken supper honoring Clyde Williams, Jr., who was recently inducted into the Army.

A dinner was held recently in honor of J. C. McClure, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McClure, Route 2, who is home on leave from the U. S. Navy station in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bennett were recently hosts to a group of friends at a supper in honor of their son, Paul M. Bennett, who has left for the U. S. Army.

Old records are wanted for the local USO center. These old records will be exchanged for new ones which will provide entertainment for those in military service who stop in Fulton.

Twenty-four Fulton girls attended the USO dance at Camp Tyson, near Paris, Tennessee, Saturday of last week. They were chaperoned by Mrs. Al Gentelman, Mrs. Leon Browder, Mrs. C. P. Williams.

100 Years Ago This Week

An historical review of the Civil War day by day in Kentucky, as reviewed by the Kentucky Civil War Commission.

By JOE JORDAN

(Kentucky Civil War Commission)

One hundred years ago this week the town of Munfordville, which was important because it was where the Louisville & Nashville railroad crossed Green River, was surrendered by the commander of a Federal garrison which had been defending it for three days against advance units of Gen. Braxton Bragg's invading Confederate army. It was when the main body of Bragg's command arrived after a two-day march from Glasgow that the Union Army commander saw he was overwhelmingly outnumbered and gave up.

The Confederates took 4076 prisoners at Munfordville, captured ten pieces of artillery and 5000 stands of small arms. They were now astride the L. & N. tracks to Louisville and, having destroyed the railroad bridge over Green River, were in an excellent position to beat Union Major Gen. Don Carlos Buell's army into Louisville.

Or the Confederate general—Braxton Bragg had been a full general since April 12—had an option of fighting Buell there. His cavalry commander, "Fighting" Joe Wheeler, wrote after the war: "The entire army was in the best of spirits. I met and talked with Generals Hardee, Polk, Cheatham and Buckner; all were enthusiastic over our success, and our good luck in getting Buell where he would be compelled to fight us to such a disadvantage." However, three days after the surrender of Munfordville, Buell was reinforced by the arrival of Major Gen. George H. Thomas with his division and "Bragg did not deem it advisable to risk a battle with the force then under his command, believing that another opportunity would offer after being joined by Kirby Smith."

Bragg marched away from Munfordville, but instead of going to Louisville he withdrew to Bardonia. He directed Wheeler with his cavalry to stay at Munfordville and contest Buell's crossing the river there, where it was fordable at several places. Wheeler with a small brigade stalled off Buell for two days, but on September 22 the Union Army was again in possession of Munfordville and Buell, with a clear road to Louisville, marched swiftly in that direction.

All this time another Confederate army under Major Gen. Kirby Smith, which by a victory in the Battle of Richmond August 30 had cleared Central Kentucky of Federal forces, was in the Bluegrass section, Smith having his headquarters at Lexington. As Joe Wheeler wrote: "If Kirby Smith's command had been ordered from Lexington to Munfordville even as late as the 12th, a battle with Buell could not have been other than a decided Confederate victory."

Union Brig. Gen. George Washington Morgan, who had been in possession of Cumberland Gap since June 18, had been bypassed by Kirby Smith when the latter invaded Kentucky from Tennessee. Now Morgan was in danger of being starved out, so he began a slow, dangerous retreat through the mountains toward the Ohio River.

You Might Call Yourself A Careful Driver, But Do You Have Seat Belts For Protection?

We cannot look at the traffic safety picture, with its trail of blood on almost every highway every year, without being concerned with exploring every possible method of accident prevention. While seat belts will not prevent most types of accidents, they do reduce deaths and injuries significantly.

State Safety Commissioner Glenn Lovern points out that over the years padded dashes have become more commonplace, door locks more durable, and steering wheels easier to break in a crash. But seat belts are still optional and the extra cost is a deterrent factor.

Belts are required for air travel even though statistics show air travel to be four times safer than motor vehicle travel. Seat belts are the reason stunt drivers are able to roll over or crash a car at 75 miles per hour and walk away from the wreckage. True, some wrecks are so severe that it is practically impossible to survive the impact, but your chances of survival are far better if you stay where you belong—behind the wheel.

Many police cars now come from the factory with belts installed and many big companies have installed belts for their employees. But you don't have to be a policeman or a traveling salesman to need belts. A recent survey proved that 75 percent of all traffic deaths occur within 25 miles of home.

Various organizations promote the use of belts. The State Department of Public Safety has had a seat belt demonstrator built, and it is drawing attention everywhere it is shown.

Some of the reasons we hear for not using seat belts are without foundation, as statistics prove. First, that one could drown if belted into a car when it went into a river or lake. Actually, only 3-10 of 1 percent of traffic deaths involve submersion, and the odds are against the belt being a hindrance.

Another major fear seems to be of burning up in a car. Cornell University studied 10,000 accidents and found that only 2-10 of 1 percent involved fire.

Seat belts can even save lives in instances of fire or water since they can keep drivers and occupants from being knocked unconscious and thus enable them to get out of the vehicle.

(Items gathered along Fulton's merryway for your pleasure and your scrapbook)

If you tried to find some of your friends and neighbors at home this week and failed we can give you a clue as to their whereabouts. A lot of them were off to the four corners of these United States accompanying their favorite college student to their "home" for the next nine months. We haven't reached that stage in life where we plan wardrobes for almost a year, although we're near, but our heart goes out to those parents who must tackle this almost unsurmountable obstacle. Each morning at our house there's a deadly repetition of a phrase for which we can almost serve as prompter: "What must I wear this morning."

Obviously the children go to bed with the thought on their minds, because as we say: "It's seven o'clock," they rarely ever say, "good morning, or what's to eat." It's always the same: "Whaddya gonna wear today?"

Imagine having to answer that question for a college student as he or she packs for nine long months away, with four seasons to take care of. There must be a special place in another world for parents who solve that problem the easy way.

One time we heard a good story about a golfer. It tended to show the almost fanatical emotion these enthusiasts have for the game. The story goes that two men were going down the fairway near the road. As they walked long the way a funeral procession was slowly wending its way toward the cemetery. As it approached, one of the golfers took off his hat, put it over his heart, and stood silently while the procession moved along. When it had passed the other golfer remarked to his friend: "I'm sorry, but I didn't know you were so reverent when a funeral procession passed by."

Whereupon the solicitous one said: "I'm not usually, but that funeral was for my wife." With that he went right on walking toward his next shot.

The story was brought to our mind Tuesday when we went out to the Country Club to take pictures of the new officers and trophy winners for the ladies day golfers. It was about 12:45 p. m. and although the golfers were told to wait around for their pictures to be taken, they had gone off in all directions anxious to start pursuing that elusive white ball. If the pictures are in the paper, we'll have you know we had to go out later after they had played the game. (See front page, maybe.)

Miss Sharon Upton celebrated her tenth birthday last Wednesday with a delightful party at her home on Sunset Drive. The guests included the girls in the fifth grade class of Mrs. Moore at Carr Elementary.

Birthday cake, ice cream and Kool-Aid were served and then the little honoree opened her many nice gifts. Following the party, the girls attended the circus at the Fulton Ballpark.

Assisting Mrs. Upton in entertaining were Mrs. James Lawson, Mrs. William Cottrell and Mrs. J. R. Powell.

Mrs. Mace McDade and her houseguest, Mrs. Myrtle Brady Ridgeway of Dallas, Texas, were hostesses to a lovely luncheon last Wednesday at the Derby. The guest list included cousins and old friends of the hostesses. A colorful arrangement of roses, snapdragons and ageratum in a cut glass bowl centered the luncheon table.

Following the luncheon, Mrs. Hendon Wright invited those present to come to her home for a demi-tasse dessert. Lovely gift bouquets filled the house and the dessert was served from a beautifully appointed table, overlaid with a linen cloth and centered with an arrangement of flowers.

Highlight of the afternoon was a "spelling bee" with Mrs. Ernest Pittman winning the prize as "spelling champion". Mrs. Wright presented the honoree, Mrs. Ridgeway, with a lovely gift.

Mrs. Vernon McAlister was hostess for the evening. The table held an attractive centerpiece of summer roses. Each of the honorees received a gift from the club and from the Derby.

Afterwards the group was invited to the home of Mrs. McAlister on Valley Street for birthday cake and frosted punch.

The Fulton County Teachers Association held its first meeting of the 1962-63 school year Thursday, September 6, at the library of F. C. H. S.

Mrs. Letha Mae Luten, president, called the meeting to order and presented Mrs. Opal Pursell, program chairman. A skit entitled "St. Peter's Gate" was enjoyed by the group. The cast was: Saint Peter, Joe Barnett; Angel, Mrs. Patsy Roberts; Classroom Clara, Mrs. Helen Tipton; Single-track Sally, Miss Mary Ledwidge; Grumbling Gordon, Joe Ross; Self-satisfied Sam; Bob Stewart; Humble Harriet, Mrs. Lillian Passmore.

Mrs. Luten served this group as president last year and the new officers, Mr. Joe Ross, vice president, and Mr. Joe Barnett, secretary-treasurer, assumed their new duties with this first meeting.

During the business session, committee reports were made. Approval and adoption was voted for the Code of Ethics prepared by the Ethics Committee and presented by Mrs. Gertrude Veatch, chairman.

One hundred percent membership was voted for the four professional associations, local, West Kentucky, Kentucky, and National. Members are from the 7 schools in Fulton County, as follows: Madrid Bend, Western Elementary, Phillips Elementary, Hickman Elementary, Cayce Elementary, Riverview High School, and Fulton County High Schools. The total membership is 76.

Joe Ross, principal of Hickman Elementary, was chosen as delegate to K. E. A. next April. Alternate is Mrs. Luten.

The Nell Hardy WMU of the Crutchfield Baptist Church met Thursday night, September 13, for their regular meeting. Hostesses for the program were Mrs. Lloyd Henderson and Mrs. Cloyce Johnston.

An installation service Sunday night, September 23, will be held by Mrs. Harry Allison, president. Mrs. Cloyce Johnston presided over a brief business session.

The meeting was dismissed with prayer by Mrs. Dolin Myatt. Refreshments of cookies and drinks were served to eleven members and two visitors.

We all want to wish little Margaret Elizabeth Powell a wonderful welcome to Fulton. "Beth", as she will be called, is the newly adopted two-week old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Flynn Powell of Edging Street.

The Powells brought Beth home last Thursday from Barclay Airfield in Paducah and she was met by a large crowd of friends and neighbors, including her four very excited brothers, Tommy, 10, Jimmy, 9, Walter, 6 and Johnny, 2.

The Powells put in their application for a baby girl last November and were notified of their acceptance in April. Beth was brought to Paducah from Spring Meadows, a Baptist children's home in Middletown, Kentucky.

The new member of the Powell family weighs six pounds and eight ounces.

News Editor To Introduce Democratic Dignitaries At State-wide Meeting

Democratic dignitaries at all levels of public office will join nearly 1000 women at Lexington, Kentucky, on September 28 and 29 when the 35th annual convention of the Democratic Women's Clubs of Kentucky is called to order. Senator Vance Hartke of Indiana will be the guest speaker at the banquet on Friday night and will be introduced by Lt. Gov. Benson W. Wyatt, the Democratic nominee for the United States Senate in the general election on November 6. Senator Hartke is chairman of the Democratic Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Mrs. Paul Westpheling of Fulton will introduce the distinguished guests at the luncheon on Saturday.

Headed by Governor Bert T. Combs, who will also be a convention speaker, the invitation list contains the names of all Democratic office-holders in Kentucky. The Democratic delegation in Washington has also been invited, as well as high-ranking party leaders from all over the State.

The convention will be held at the Phoenix Hotel and will be presided over by State President Mrs. Ruth Richardson of Cattlesburg. Mrs. Lorenza G. Garner and Mrs. Thomas G. Hobbs are co-chairmen of the convention program. Mrs. Joseph D. Webb, district director and the Democratic Women's Clubs of the Sixth District are hostesses for the event.

The banquet will be held at seven o'clock Friday evening, EST, in the Convention Hall. The luncheon will be at 12:30 p. m. Saturday. A style show, presented by the Four Seasons, will be a feature of the convention.

Nominations will be received from the floor to fill the offices of first vice-president, third vice-president, recording secretary and member from the State at large. The terms of the other officers do not expire this year.

Mrs. Richardson is urging all club presidents to contact their members to make reservations for the banquet and the luncheon. Reservations may be made by writing Mrs. Thomas G. Hobbs, Versailles Road, Lexington, Kentucky.

Federal Grant For Sewage System Sought

A special called meeting of the Fulton City Commission authorized Mayor Gilbert DeMyer last week to file application to the Federal Government for a grant on the sewage treatment system. Mayor DeMyer, Commissioners Tripp and McCain and City Manager James Robey were present at the meeting.

The application will be for $72,000 with other funds available at a later date.

RECORDS FAIL—

the Fulton City Commission.

A transcript of the action taken by both municipalities in connection with the sewage disposal unit fails to indicate that Fulton ever agreed to the employment of the Nichols Engineering firm. As a matter of fact on May 8, 1958 Fulton rejected the contract of the Nichols firm in a joint resolution signed by the city clerk and the Mayors of both cities. The instrument authorized "directing the engineers of the respective cities to proceed to complete studies, compile data, make preliminary plans and make application for federal grant for sewage treatment plant."

The resolution stated that Nichols was representing South Fulton and Hemco Engineering firm was representing Fulton. Before the resolution was adopted in late 1958, South Fulton adopted a resolution (on April 11, 1958) employing Nichols to do their engineering work. In May 1958, the records of Fulton indicated that the Council rejected the Nichols contract.

A careful study of the transcripts fails to reveal any official notation that Fulton was to pay any portion of the engineering services performed by the Nichols Engineering firm, hired by South Fulton.

Earth Spins Along Into Autumn; Brings Out Footballs And Poets

The Northern Hemisphere spins into autumn at 6:35 a. m. central standard time Sunday, September 23.

Summer ends when the sun crosses the Equator. Or to put it more accurately, the earth reaches the point in its orbit where its axis is aimed neither away from nor toward the sun.

A perpetual tilt in the axis gives the earth its changes of season, the National Geographic Society says.

The tilt amounts to 23 1/2 degrees from an imaginary perpendicular. It always slants in the same direction, thus the North Pole leans toward the sun during part of the earth's journey and away from it during another part. The moment when the North

Effective Weight Control And Good Nutrition Begin With Breakfast

What is your most valuable possession? Your health? Guard it jealously, it cannot be replaced.

This was the warning from Martha Logan, Central Dairy Council, Louisville, as she announced that September has been designated as "Better Breakfast Month."

Obesity is almost a naughty word today. Even those who are only slightly overweight feel that they must "do something" to shed unwanted pounds. Food faddists and quacks have become wealthy through the sale of miracle weight reduction pills, food, incense and mechanical devices. Their books have become best sellers. People genuinely interested in knowing about the problem of overweight find it difficult to separate sense from nonsense.

Many people try to lose weight by skipping or skimping on breakfast. Yes, calories do count but calories aren't the whole story. It doesn't pay to be calorie-wise and nutrient-foolish. When you eat fewer calories you need to "shop" for the most in nutrition for each calorie just as you shop for the most value for each dollar when dollars are limited. The amount of food you eat will vary depending on whether you are tall or short, and how active you are, but the kinds of food and the nutrients needed are essentially the same for everyone. These include protein, fat, carbohydrate, vitamins and minerals.

One fourth to one third of the day's food needs should be met by breakfast. Good nutrition for your health, disposition and vitality and yes, for weight control begins with a good morning meal. You are more likely to overeat when you skip or skimp on breakfast. This fact is supported by scientific evidence, but you can prove it to yourself by jotting down the actual foods you eat during the entire day—and don't forget the snacks!

The basic breakfast consists of fruits, cereal with milk and/or egg, bread and butter and milk. Fix them the way you like them best and tailor the amounts to fit your calorie needs. Here are a few suggestions for calorie trimming. Poach your eggs instead of frying them. Substitute dry or lightly buttered toast for sweet rolls and coffee cakes. Omit fat meats, such as bacon. Learn to do without jam, jelly and the addition of sugar to your breakfast fruits and cereals.

Tomato juice, your favorite cereal or soft-cooked egg, lightly buttered toast and low-fat milk are examples of what's available in each food group to provide a low calorie, high nutritive breakfast.

Hickman Council Votes To Build New Firehouse

Hickman's city council, by a vote of 5-0, decided last week to build a new fire station on a city lot next to the Fulton county superintendent's office.

Councilman C. A. Lattus, who had sought to sell the city a building on Moscow street, abstained from voting.

The council turned down the offer of John Pierson who offered to sell the Mooney building on Carroll Street for $4200 or rent it to the city.

BEAUTIFUL KENTUCKY LAKE STATE PARK in southwestern Kentucky offers a fun-filled vacation all year round. Horseback riding is a popular summer sport, along with fishing, water skiing, motorboating and sailing on the 184-mile-long lake. A sand beach and a modern pool overlooking the lake appeal to swimmers. Excellent catches of crappie, largemouth and striped bass and catfish are taken from the lake. Vacationers have a wide choice of accommodations, too — comfortable, fully-equipped cottages, the Kenlake Hotel and a modern tent camping and trailer area with central service building. A paved airstrip permits private plane owners to fly directly to the park. Located near the intersection of U.S. 68, Ky. 80 and Ky. 94, approximately 14 miles from Benton, Ky., the park is on main routes of auto travel.

State Youth In Far-Away Turkey Writes Of Her Many Experiences

"The two apple pies I made one day for my host family in Sivas disappeared faster than ice cream on a hot day," writes Mary Jo Dixon, Boone county, of her second host family in Turkey. Mary Jo is one of Kentucky's three International Farm Youth Exchange delegates this year. She is living with rural families in Turkey for about five-and-a-half months.

"Never did I realize how cooling hot tea could be—but I'm learning," Mary Jo writes. "I drink very much tea but no milk. The Turks serve a mixture of yogurt and water, which is similar to buttermilk. They also eat a lot of eggplant, tomatoes and onions. The food is highly seasoned, in most cases, but not with salt. They usually serve soup, vegetables, wheat, and bread. Occasionally, we have meat, but not very often, as it is difficult to keep it without refrigeration.

"In Sivas, I really got to work with my hosts for the first time. I felt right at home when we threshed wheat; I drove the tractor pulling a wooden sled over the grain. My host family had one of the three tractors in the village, which made them a leading family. Those who did not have tractors used oxen to pull the sleds.

"After the wheat is removed from the fields here, they burn the straw rather than plowing it under. After the wheat is threshed, the women wash it in large water troughs. Then they scatter it on the roofs of their homes to dry. When it dries, they store it in large bags until it is used.

"The homes are very interesting. Many are yellow with red tile or flat roofs with hay on top. They are usually two stories high and made of a combination of mud.

"The first floor of my host family's home had four rooms and a large hall. As you entered the front door, a bench for the family's shoes was on the left. Here one removed his outdoor shoes and slipped on a pair of house-shoes. One of the downstairs rooms was a family living room; along one wall was a bench covered with rugs and pillows. Also, there was a table and a few chairs. Whenever a guest came to the house, the door to this room was closed—with the women inside. Guests were taken upstairs to a very nice living room. The rest of the downstairs was composed of the kitchen and a bedroom.

"The living room upstairs had several arm chairs, a bench along one of the walls, and many small tables used to set tea glasses on. The windows in this room had glass panes but no screens. Along one wall hung a beautiful hand-made Turkish rug. The average Turkish rug takes from six to eight months for one woman to make.

"The streets in the villages are dirt or rock. In Sivas, the streets had a steady stream of water flowing down them. An English interpretation for the name of this village is 'water town.' Most of the villages do not have this abundant water supply, however.

"Every village has a school and a mosque. At certain times during the day you can hear a singer at the mosque calling the people to prayer. I've seen several women stop their work when this happens, get out their prayer rugs, and kneel in prayer.

"I was the first American most people in Sivas had ever seen. Each time I stepped outside, people gathered around to look at me, my clothes, my red hair, and my freckles."

The IFYE program, through which Mary Jo is in Turkey, is sponsored by the National 4-H Club Foundation on behalf of the Cooperative Extension Service. The purpose of the IFYE program is to promote world understanding through young rural people living and working as members of families in other countries.

Memphis Using Unmarked Car In Traffic Drive

Memphis, Tenn.—Memphis police began using an unmarked police car as part of a "psychological-warfare" campaign against careless motorists.

"We want violators to think any car—behind, in front, or beside them—may contain a policeman," Police Chief J. C. Mac Donald said.

He said the car would be shifted to various parts of the city so violators will never know when or where it is on duty.

"Proud Heritage" Presented As Civil War Tribute

Gov. Bert Combs and 1,200 other persons attended the second presentation of Floyd County's outdoor drama, "Proud Heritage," in Prestonsburg.

The play is Prestonsburg and Floyd County's contribution to the Civil War centennial. It was written by Henry P. Scalf of the Floyd County Times and presented for the first time last August.

The drama portrays the Union troops' occupation of Prestonsburg. They were commanded by Gen. James Garfield, who later became president, during the Battle of Middle Creek and the Big Sandy Campaign of the Civil War.

The play was staged on the tereed Gen. Garfield and his troops and which now bears his name, "Garfield Place." The home is now owned by Mrs. Claude P. Stephens of Prestonsburg.

WILLIAM J. PRYOR

LET'S UPDATE OUR SURROUNDINGS

We spend more time around our homes than any other single place during a lifetime. Most folks are more proud of their home than anything else they own. This is where we go for relaxation and to spend time with our loved ones. So many of us however, take our home and our yards as a matter of fact. We give attention to our yard when we have an extra hour or so from our other duties. So much of this work is left undone due to other pressing jobs.

With a little more planning and good judgment we can improve our yards and surroundings and we would in the long run receive so much pleasure from the beauty resulting from such planning and work. There is so much that we could do with little cost that would make our farm homes so inviting and beautiful.

A name for our farm home can mean so much. An attractive sign at the entrance would make our friends more welcome. A sign on or above the mailbox will add much to the personality of a farm home. Guests would feel as they approach the home, that there is much pride and interest in the home if there is an attractive entrance to the drive.

Then too properly arranged shrubs and flowers add much to a farm homestead. Regardless of its size or architecture, beautiful year around flowers mean much to one who passes by or visits you from time to time. So much can be added to just any home by the addition of perennial or annual flowers properly arranged and cultivated in such a manner that they indicate that this is a well kept and preserved place for the owners and their visitors. A neat concrete walk leading to the home also spells "welcome" to guests. To the farm family it also means convenience. During the rainy season a sidewalk will eliminate ponds of water that once formed at the back step and many ugly tracks can be saved into the house. To the older folks a concrete sidewalk is of particular importance, since they are not as sure of foot as they once were. In the summer they present an attractive appearance in contrast to a path across the grass lawn.

There are so many, many changes that we could make that would cost little, and at the same time add much to our homes. This season of the year, just before winter begins is a good time to consider changes that would indicate that your home is a place where people live abundantly and that guests are always welcome.

In this day of hurry and doing all we can to improve farm income, why not take time to plan whereby we could live better and at the same time add much beauty to our community? It will require only a small amount of our time to accomplish these goals and much happiness and enjoyment would be our reward.

Improvement Sought For Reelfoot Lake State Park Area

Improvements for the Reelfoot Lake State Park area are now under discussion by the Tennessee State Parks division. Included in the recommendations made by Park Superintendent Ralph Burrus is the purchase of a dredge pump to take silt from the lake and enlarge areas already in use.

It would be possible to make a fill for a four-lane drive along congested areas of Highway 22 and for an air strip at the lake. Hundreds of acres of good fishing water that have been filled in by silt on the north end of the lake could be reclaimed, said Mr. Burrus.

Other recommendations include the purchase of a 30 passenger excursion boat for tours on the lake. The boat could also double as a rescue boat should the need arise.

Several other improvements for the lake area are also under consideration.

Bulldogs Win Third Straight Game; South Fulton Is Homecoming Victor

The Fulton Bulldogs and the South Fulton Red Devils continued their winning ways last weekend as the Big Blue rolled easily over the Martin Panthers, 39-13, and the Big Red copped their Homecoming Game with Gleason, 13-0.

Covington's passing arm accounted for five of the six Fulton TD's with Don Burnette taking three of the passes, Tommy Powell, one, and Terry Beadles, one. The sixth touchdown was made by Duane McAlister. Extra points were scored by Kenneth Allen, Beadles and McAlister.

Martin's scores both came in the final quarter. Coach Chester Caddas of Fulton played his second and third string teams during the final minutes of the game.

Clayburn Peeples and Larry Wade scored the two South Fulton touchdowns. Marty Warren ran for the extra point.

The Gleason team was never able to threaten as they got past the 50 yard line only once during the course of the game.

The South Fulton game was preceded by crowning ceremonies for Miss Carol Schrader, 196 Homecoming Queen. Her maid were Lee Cantrell, Anna Hardy, Mary Elizabeth Fields and Linda Nanney.

This Friday night will be Homecoming at Fulton High School as the Bulldogs will take on another set of Bulldogs—those from Providence, Kentucky. Miss Sandra Cash will be crowned before the game.

South Fulton will play another Reelfoot Conference game, this one with Sharon, Tennessee. The game will be played at Sharon.

Merit Scholarship Plan Underway For Fulton High Graduates Of 1964

All 1964 graduates of Fulton High School who wish to enter the 1963-64 National Merit Scholarship competition should register now at the school office, J. M. Martin, principal, announced today.

The National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test will be given in the school at 9 a. m. Tuesday, March 5.

To receive consideration for Merit Scholarship, students must take the test when it is offered and pay a $1 fee on the day of the test. Any interested student who is unable to pay the fee should consult Mr. Martin.

Awards in the Merit Program are granted on the basis of intellectual merit, but student financial needs determine the amount of individual stipends. The stipends are renewable each year without further testing.

In addition to the awards made by the National Merit Scholarship competition, about 150 business corporations, foundations and individuals give scholarship through this program.

In the period 1956-62, nearly 6000 students have received Merit Scholarship awards and thousands of other high-scoring students have been assisted in obtaining financial aid from other sources.

Adequate Linen Supply Is Important To College-Bound Students This Fall

September is a busy month for the college set who are preparing to either enter their favorite college as freshmen or are just returning for another year as upper classmen.

Along with the job of choosing a back-to-school wardrobe just right for their on campus days, goes the job of selecting the necessary linens and bedspreads to "dress-up" the college living quarters.

Usually this particular task is left up to mom, and from the practical standpoint, mom knows a college dorm bedspread should be sturdy. From a student viewpoint, this item should also be colorful and attractive.

Textile experts at the American Institute of Laundering, research and education center for the professional laundry industry, say that a good quality woven bedspread fits this description. A woven fabric takes harder wear and less care than a tufted or chenille spread. Comparatively inexpensive and practical for long service, woven spreads often have matching companion draperies. They can be found in attractive, solid colors, as well as plaids or stripes.

For greatest satisfaction, the textile technicians advise shoppers to check labels to see that these spreads are colorfast to sunlight and laundering and are preshrunk. If not preshrunk, the fabric may shrink from 4 to 6 percent during laundering.

When buying bed linens, it is important to know the size of the bed and mattress. Correct size eliminates strain from tugging and pulling and encourages more comfortable sleep. To find correct size, take length of the mattress, add six inches for thickness and ten inches for tuck-in and folding over the blanket. The width of the sheet should be twenty-four inches wider than the mattress. This allows a five to seven inch take-up on each side, depending on the thickness of the mattress, and a five inch tuck-in.

Correct size is particularly important for fitted sheets, which are a timesaver for the student trying to make an early morning class. Another time and worksaver for students who seldom have time to give their washables proper care is a professional laundry.

The ideal pillow case is two inches wider than the pillow to avoid strain during use. It should also be long enough to completely cover the pillow.

For quality bed linens, check to see that threads are of the same thickness and that the filling threads are straight and not on the bias. Also, check sheeting for firm, compact selvedge edges and hems that are straight with even stitching. These points are especially appropriate for students who'll be using pastel, striped or design sheets for draperies.

Shoppers should make sure that the school-bound collegians have an adequate supply of thick, "thirsty" towels. When buying, check especially for colorfastness. And, choose close, large, and thickly-packed loops, says the American Institute of Laundering, which indicate that the towels will be absorbent and will give good service.

Tough new '63 Chevrolet Trucks are here!

...THE ONES THAT WHIPPED THE BAJA RUN...TOUGHEST UNDER THE SUN... TO SHOW THE WORTH OF NEW ENGINES, FRAMES AND SUSPENSIONS!

Sometimes the caravan crept along for hours in low gear. It took 17 days to go 1,066 miles! This is the road near Loreto.

Millions of years ago nature fashioned a proving ground for trucks that man can never duplicate. Today it is known as the Baja (bah' hah) California Peninsula, Mexico.

These pictures give you only a bare idea of the place. The road is fine for 140 miles below the U.S. border. Then the beating begins. Rocks and hard-baked ruts bang, jab and jerk the trucks from stem to stern. Loose sand makes them struggle and strain. Dust chokes them. Heat roasts them. Rivers drench them.

The Baja Run took this Chevrolet truck caravan 17 days to go the 1,066 miles.

All the trucks performed magnificently. Not one was forced to drop out because of mechanical difficulty.

Trucks that can take this kind of beating can take on your toughest truck jobs. Come in now and see tough quality-built '63 Chevrolet trucks with all their new improvements.

the largest sources for sales tax receipts. Kentucky was one of the last States to impose the sales tax. It's a fair tax and as long as we maintain our progress in education the school teachers will fight hard to maintain the sales tax as it is."

The State Department of Education tentatively earmarked a record of $105,931,243 under the Minimum Foundation Program for this school year.

The figure is an increase of $640,562 over last year's final allotment.

Supt. of Public Instruction Wendell Butler said "It will be a close budget, but we feel we will have enough funds."

The legislature has appropriated $108,729,457. The allotments are expected to increase by about $3 million by the end of the school year, putting the program close to the appropriation. Some districts receive a flat guarantee of funds, a category totaling $2.64 million. Some adjustments of other figures will be necessary later.

The total cost of the program is $151,018,910. Of this, local governments will pay nearly $48 million.

The allotments are based on 26,139 classroom units. A school district gets an average of about $5,500 per unit.
